BOSTON AMERICAN EVENING SECOND SECTION

BOSTON, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1927

A Great Love Serial by an Expert on Affairs of the Heart

What Has Happened

Ann and George Hastings, sisters, live together at Mrs. O'Leary's Dorchester boarding house. Ann, the elder, works in a South Boston factory, and George in a Milk street insurance office. Ann is proud of her sister's good looks and charming manners. She thinks it would be a good thing if George married Bill Warren, who has no money but who is madly in love with George. Bill shows Ann the engagement ring he has bought for George. A strange young man drives George home in a smart car and Ann hears her planning to meet him the next day. She pleads with her sister not to make chance acquaintances and speaks enthusiastically about Bill Warren. The same evening George refuses Bill's offer of marriage. Ann is furious when she hears about it.

George recently being teased and Ann wonders how she could best safeguard her sister. Ann goes to a party with Jimmy McCormick, a department head in the factory, and incurs a jealous girl's enmity. She gets a shock when she looks across the dance floor. (Now go on with the story)

CHAPTER 5

IN that booth there were two people, a sleekheaded man in his early thirties, well-dressed, good looking in a hard way, and a girl, young, pretty, handsome, with one silver hair crossed over the other, and her white eyes shining with excitement and pleasure.

The girl who was called The man was that same man who had looked her up, and brought her home to Mrs. O'Leary's the other evening in his roadster. For a moment Anne's mind was confused by many thoughts and emotions, and she had been how George had pleasantly teased her not to socialize, and how she had ended by promising on her solemn word not to mix up any particular one again.

That promise, made with fearful sincerity, had lasted about three days. And tonight she had led out of going with Jimmy and Bob and Ann, knowing all the time she was going to meet this man she was now with.

Like Ellen she had pretended a headache. But Ann was cut to the core by George's deceit. She wouldn't have led to George herself for anything in the world, but George hadn't accepted to deceive her. She wanted to march over to that booth, to confront George, but she was angry and hurt. And she had told her that she really liked him. And George had come to her, had told her that she really liked him. But he had come to her, to try to cheat like this—that was what was so unfair.

And the very fact she had said nothing about him made Ann more sure than ever that George had

$500,000 FOR MILLICENT'S NEW HUSBAND Double Elopement in Saugus Family Revealed

GIVES HALF MILLION TO RAMOS

Rogers Establishes Fund for New Son-in-Law at Millicent's Second Wedding

Southampton, L. I., Nov. 8.—Millicent Rogers was married here to Arthur Ramos, wealthy Argentinian, the religious ceremony of marriage being performed in the rectory of the Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary, The Rev. Fr. Joseph Kelly officiated.

Colonel H. H. Rogers and Mrs. Rogers not only were present, but it became known that the Standard Oil millionaire, seeking to insure his daughter's happiness after her first marital misadventure with Count Salin, had established a $500,000 fund, the income of which is to be turned over to her in the future, on any other part of the Rogers will.

NO RELIGIOUS BARRIER

By special dispensation no religious barrier was imposed to the ceremony, the ecclesiastical authorities holding that as Salin was separated from his first wife by a divorce which the church did not recognize, and, further, since his marriage to Millicent took place in the municipal building, Manhattan, there was no reason why the Standard Oil heiress and her Argentinian lover should not wed.

"I am the happiest of men," Ramos joyfully told a close friend just after the ceremony. Millicent expressed the same sentiment.

Incidentally it was revealed, that, in the religious ceremony took place early in the week, instead of Wednesday, as originally planned, was that George H. Bonington Millicent's grandfather, and the father of Mrs. Rogers, was present.

Mrs. Kenneth O'Brien, a sister of Mrs. Ellen Mackay Berlin, wife of the noted essay writer, was guest of honor. Robert H. B. of Southampton and New York was best man.

RAMOS TO BE N. Y. BROKER

Mrs. and Mr. Ramos will sail Thursday for Buenos Aires to spend some months before returning here. Then Ramos will become associated with Bankers' Brothers, New York stock brokers.

While Ramos is a Catholic, his bride is not, and when Colonel Rogers was asked whether she intended to join her husband's church, he shrugged and said: "She married a Catholic, didn't she? It's up to her now, isn't it?"

Persons equally as interested as that Ramos is a Catholic, or not, after all as wealthy as he was said to be. But he is fairly well off, just the same as he is worth about $100,000, his income being about $300,000 a year, or $250,000 a month.

ENDOWS SALM SUCCESSOR

Millicent Rogers, the divorced Countess Salm, daughter of the Standard Oil multi-millionaire, was a bride again today. At Southampton, R. I., she was married to Arthur Ramos of Argentina. Col. H. H. Rogers, it was said, established a $500,000 fund for Ramos so as to insure their happiness.

WOMAN LISTED LT.-GOV. ALLEN DOANE'S VISITS WEDS NOV. 28

Picking up the battle where it was left off last Summer, the separate support suit brought by Mrs. Maude Dunn against George H. Doane, wealthy Brooklyn yachtsman, was resumed today in Delham Probate Court before Judge Joseph R. McCole.

Testimony was given by Mrs. Mary Allan of Hancock street, Wollaston, formerly of Columbia road, South Boston, that from her dining room window in Columbia road she saw Doane and Mrs. Florence A. Deane go into the Boston Yacht Club on an average of three times a week during a period from February, 1925, to December, 1926. The shades of a room in the yacht club were pulled down after each of their entrances, Mrs. Allan testified.

SECRETS REVEALED BY RETICTIONS

Brother and Sister Admit Marriages When Licenses Are Made Known

The telephone wire leading to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Castle at No. 353 Central street, Saugus, is buzzing today with mixed messages of congratulation and sympathy as a result of a double elopement in the family of a son and daughter.

Had it not been for the telltale marriage license returns no one would have been the wiser. But it's all over but the shouting. With the parental blessing and forgiveness which goes a long way in making a matrimonial start. The principals in the double header scored by Cupid were Miss Eleanor Castle, 17, student nurse, who became the bride of Byron J. Kennerly, 13, a freshman at Amherst College, on October 29 in Providence, and Charles G. Castle, 23, who was married on September 21 in Meriden, N. H., to Miss Annette Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rose, of No. 69 Pleasant View avenue, Lynn.

HEARS NEWS OVER PHONE

News travels fast down in Saugus, just as it does in any small community. It started at Saugus Town Hall, where the telltale marriage returns landed. The first the mother knew of it was when someone called her on the telephone.

Two weeks ago Elizabeth had decided she was to wed after Providence. But when confronted with reports of the marriage returns, Mrs. Castle, who was a bride, admitted that she was a bride.

Not to be outdone by his sister, Brother Charles calmly broke the news that he, too, had gone and married. "Both these marriages are a tremendous surprise to me," declared Mrs. Castle after she had somewhat recovered from the shock. "I expected the marriage of my son Charles. I knew my daughter was planning to wed, but this is the first confirmation of the marriage I have received. I knew nothing of my own plans."

FORGIVES HOTEL

"However, I forgive them both and hope they will be very happy. The only member of my family now left is my 15-year-old John. I feel sure of him, at least, because he has been laid up with a broken out barbed."

Mr. and Mrs. Kennerly will live with the family of the young student. He is preparing to study at the University of the South. The brother, Charles and his bride, make their home with Mrs. Castle at No. 353 Central street. He is employed in a West Lynn watch factory.

TO WED CROWN PRINCE?

HINT AT ENGAGEMENT
It is reported that the engagement of Princess Marie Jose, daughter of King Albert of Belgium, and Crown Prince Humbert of Italy is about to be announced, but Belgian official circles scout the idea.

SUES PA-IN-LAW PLAN DICTATOR FOR $200,000 FOR RUMANIA

Springfield, Nov. 8 (A.P.)—The largest suit for damages for alienation of affection filed in Superior Court here was entered today by Mrs. Ann St. Louis-South Street against her father-in-law, George W. Streeter of this city.

Mrs. Streeter was married in New York City. She returned to this city where the husband's month later started suit for divorce.

Mrs. Streeter has countered with a $200,000 suit alleging her father-in-law persuaded her husband to abandon her, and that she has been deprived of the affection, comfort and solace of her husband's society.

GALES DELAY LEVIATHAN, MINNEAPOLIS 24 HOURS
New York, Nov. 8 (A.P.)—Delayed by high gales at sea, the Leviathan and Minneapolis docked today 24 hours overdue. Captain Harbort of the Leviathan said the vessel had entered a fog area which surrounded the wharf for 15 hours after leaving Copenhagen. The Minneapolis arrived the fringes of a hurricane off the Eastern coast. She was delayed in leaving London and was forced to enter once crossing between Liverpool and London as she had struck a submerged rock.

12 FLEE FOR LIVES IN FIRE

Man, Two Women and Girl Play Hero Roles in $5,000 East Bridgewater Blaze

East Bridgewater, Nov. 8.—A man, two women and a girl, 12, performed deeds of heroism as fire today swept the three-story brick telephone exchange block in East Bridgewater square causing damage estimated at $5,000 and endangering the lives of twelve persons.

Six children were rescued by their father after one of them, Marion Thompson, 12, aroused her father and the other children. Mrs. Jennie gave the alarm to the night telephone operator and awakened her own family and the Thompson girl. One of the Penny children, James, six, threw water down from the third floor to escape the flames.

Mrs. Sybil Matthews, telephone operator, after calling the firemen, refused to leave her post until water short-circuited the switchboard. Telephone service was partly restored two hours after the fire. The telephone exchange is on the first floor of the block and the two families occupied the second and third floors.

MEXICANS EXECUTE SEVEN REBELS; HOLD 600 YAKU
Mexico City, Nov. 8 (A.P.)—Having executed seven rebels, including General Amado Gomez, of the revolution in the State of Vera Cruz, the government today held captive six Yaku Indians, who recently surrendered in the State of Sonora. The small bands of Yaku Indians remaining in the field will soon be exterminated, the government announced, since the backbone of that revolt has been broken. Scouting parties in Vera Cruz, under General Guebara, are pursuing two remaining rebel leaders, General Almeida and Medina.

DISCOVER TRACE OF OHIO HUNTER LOST IN MAINE
Houlton, Me., Nov. 8 (A.P.)—The finding of the remains of a cowboy gave searchers today the first clue in their efforts to find James Dill, 25, Cleveland, O. hunter, who has been missing from a camp near Tracy Brook, 25 miles from here, since Friday. The location of the hunters near a bridge, which probably would have been used to get back to camp and the loss of the bridge in the terrific storm to reach the theory Dill was swept from the bridge while crossing it.

NOAH BEERY TO BREAK FROM BROTHERS

By LOUIELLA O. PARSONS.
Lois Beery, Nov. 1.—The old and well-known brother from Bill Shakespeare's classic about a roach by any other name, smiling as sweet, is not regarded by Noah Beery as true, literally speaking. Mr. Beery has decided that two brothers in a film company just isn't so good as one. He has decided that he will break from his brothers.

The explanation given is that while he and his brother, Wallace, play entirely different roles, he does not get as much opportunity with Famous as he would if there were only one Beery. He feels when he is loaned to other companies with another Beery he gets a bigger and better opportunity.

One thing, Noah Beery, who is one of the best character actors on the screen, has the course of his convictions. He continues to play more months to run and he put it into the hands of his brother, Wallace. Only a player who is sure of his own talent would make so drastic a move.

Wouldn't you know that Tom Moore was about to be vamped by an expert when I tell you he has been to play the male lead in "The Girl in the Red Velvet Robe," a story which is being produced by the Columbia Pictures Corporation.

Derby Roper plays the screen's it's dollars to daughters she is the real story. Tom Moore, who is one of the best character actors on the screen, has the course of his convictions. He continues to play more months to run and he put it into the hands of his brother, Wallace.

Wins Divorce

By GEORGE JESSEL.
In answer to the numerous letters and inquiries why I suddenly lost the name and name field to appear in such a serious play as "The Jazz Singer," I have had to give the following facts. I had been in the stage at the age of nine, and I had been in the stage at the age of nine, and I had been in the stage at the age of nine.

As I became a bit older, I began to realize what it meant to be in the stage. I had been in the stage at the age of nine, and I had been in the stage at the age of nine, and I had been in the stage at the age of nine.

The cross currents of life forced me at the age of twenty-two to leave the stage. I had been in the stage at the age of nine, and I had been in the stage at the age of nine, and I had been in the stage at the age of nine.

DOUGHERTY PROVES FIGHTER

Little Feather Loses Decision to Chick Suggs, But Jackie Makes It Hot All the Way

By JACK CONWAY

JACKIE DOUGHERTY came up off the floor fighting in his battle with Chick Suggs at the Arena. Which is the real test of a fighting man.

The decision went to Suggs at the end of ten fiery rounds, but he had to keep shouting everything at his opponent, right up to the finish.

It was a real test of the spirit of the fighter, and the result was a real test of the spirit of the fighter.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"HELLO, Mr. Boston."

With his cane on his arm, Tex Rickard stepped into Kelley & Hayes' Gym and grasped the veteran by the hand.

"What time does Sharkey work?" queried Rickard.

"He'll be on the floor in a few minutes," answered Mr. Boston.

"How's your new arena getting along, Tex?" asked the veteran.

"Great," answered the world's leading promoter. "I have talked with the financial people and have practically closed for the big project which I plan to erect at the North Station site of the Boston & Maine railroad."

We plan to run the trains in underground and have our auditorium over head.

"Remember when I talked with you in New York last May? At that time I told you I was coming to Boston, and I think you tipped New England sport fans."

"My arena will have seats for 20,000 persons. That will enable me to put on as big indoor fights here as I do in New York. There are few bouts which attract more than 20,000 fans. Of course matches like Dempsey and Dempsey or Dempsey and Sharkey against Tunney will still have to go to one of the outdoor places."

"I have practically closed for the Boston Bruins to use my new arena. It's a great money maker nowadays. We'll have the seating capacity to take care of the crowds that wish to see this sport. Of course our seating capacity for hockey will be somewhat less than for boxing as we'll require some of our space for the rink."

"I expect to get going on this new project right away as I want to have it ready for business by November 1, 1928."

"Of course I shall drop a circus and a flock of other shows in at my new place. The overhead of a 25,000,000 arena is so great that it requires plenty of attractions if one is to pay dividends."

"HISSE comes Sharkey," declared Mr. Boston.

"Hello, Jack," said Tex as he grasped the Boston heavyweight contender by the hand.

"How's things along Broadway?" queried Sharkey.

"Everything is rolling," laughed Tex. "I dropped in to see you 'tween I want to tell you that you won't have any clinch when you face Tom Heenan on November 18. He is a real fighter."

"I'll beat Heenan," said Sharkey quietly.

"Then what are your plans for Sharkey," asked Johnny Buckley.

"I want to match him with Paolino," replied Rickard. "I am first going to pit Paolino against Johnny Rio or some other fair heavyweight whom he should beat. A Sharkey-Paolino bout would then draw a pot full of gold. I could get $40 for rounds seats for that bout. You know the price limit is off in New York. The courts rule the commission has not the right to limit prices."

"If Sharkey beats Heenan and Paolino, I shall then give him Jack Dempsey in an outdoor spot. I figure Sharkey and Dempsey over again would draw $1,500,000."

"Dempsey is sweet on Sharkey's fighting. It was only the other day that he told me Jack was a sure thing to defeat Tunney if they ever meet."

"I thought Sharkey would beat Dempsey. He would have done so if he had boxed at long range. Nobody can safely slug with the Tiger."

BY THIS TIME Sharkey was boxing with Pat Cavellier.

"I notice that Sharkey has become heavier," said Rickard. "This is to be expected. He is only a youngster and is growing. His additional weight is hard muscle and will make him a greater heavyweight. He will now be able to outpunch the other fellows."

Later Sharkey boxed with Johnny Urgan, then shaded away for two seasons with Jack Gagnon.

William Gray, vice-president of Madison Square Garden Corporation, came over to Tex as Sharkey and Gagnon traded blows.

"Do fighters usually work as hard in training?" he asked.

"Only when there is a million dollars at the stake," laughed Tex.

After Sharkey finished his workout, Rickard started back for New York.

Dempsey May Be Barred From Fighting in Garden

New York, Nov. 8 (A.P.)—Jack Dempsey probably will be called on by the New York State Athletic Commission to decide whether he intends to fight in the future or have other fight for him.

Under the boxing laws of the State, Dempsey cannot do both.

This declaration, made unofficially by the State boxing referee, was due to published reports that the former heavyweight champion had received $100,000 of Madison Square Garden to box through promoter Tex Rickard.

If the report is true the board indicated yesterday it would make an issue of the matter.

One of the questions asked a box or applying for a license in New York is "Has the applicant any financial interest in any corporation promoting boxing in this State or any other place?" An answer "Yes" promptly disqualifies the applicant.

Dempsey, who he received a boxing license prior to the match with Jack Sharkey last summer, answered "No" to that question.

In the seventeen years of indoor boxing in Boston the most colorful teams that have visited the old and new arenas from across the bay have been the French. From all sections of Quebec French teams have visited this city and have left a very deep impression.

Speed, wonderful stick handling and terrific power combine to make the Frenchmen a very colorful hockey outfit. It is a team the crowd likes to see in action. The individual effort of the players is a treat in itself.

If the Providence Frenchmen elect to play a rugged game, Saturday night Coach Powers has "five bulley forward" to shoot into action in Harry Frost, Eddie Burke and Poni Contant. For his lighter forwards Powers has George Hastings, Joe "Big Boy" Taylor, Tony "The King" King, Pete Lloyd, Bob Wilson and Quinlan.

The Tiger defense unit is being headed up to surprise the Frenchmen shoot. As Smith is back on the job and he has Red Mackey, Jack's New York father, then to work with in front of the nets with Bertie Kline in the back.

After the dinner, Hawley gave the men a long talk, pointing out the mistakes of the season, and pointing them toward the last game of the season this week with Cornell.

DAVE MISHEL JOINS STEAM ROLLER TEAM

Dave Mishel, former Brown College star and one of the outstanding college athletes last year, has signed to play with the Providence Steam Rollers in the professional football league and will play his first game next Monday.

Mishel has been helping the laundry with the Brown team this season. The Steamrollers are in fourth position in the league and will finish in the top in this year's race. Henry Friedman, a Columbia team star, will be the attraction for next Monday.

To encourage early Christmas shopping all change purchases during the month of November may be paid with the December bill which you will receive on January 1, 1928.

You wouldn't believe one store could house such a magnificent array of things to wear! There are any number of suits so fine you'll hardly be able to say which you like best.

You know of course, about the extraordinary smartness of Society Brand Clothes. You've heard of their famous cut. Perhaps you've never come in, though, and proved to yourself how really unusual they are.

Slip on any one of the Society Brand models, suits or overcoats, and examine the shoulders and collar. See how wonderfully they fit up about the neck. That's the great test!

And when you've chosen a Society Brand suit, you'll never tire of it—never. You'll agree with us that there are no clothes like these, anywhere.

BRUINS HAVE THREE LINES

"The Boston Bruins will offer a new forward line this hockey season which will be far superior to its second line a year ago," says Manager Art Ross. "That statement can be taken as the Bruins' manager's word of how the team has been strengthened for the opening of the major league hockey season next Tuesday at the Arena."

Conversion of Norman Gagnon and Doc Clapper, defense players, into wings, which positions they will fill when not on defense, means that the team now has three lines.

The array of forward strength is most important and the Bruins' line is especially pleased at development of Gagnon and Clapper into forwards because, though carrying but 14 players, the team has nine forwards, six defense men and a goal tender. That gives the Bruins 14 players to do the work of 16.

Reate for the first game with Chicago will be an exciting one. Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the arena and develop for many hours. The game will be a very close one, plus the large number of arena ticket holders this season practically means that the opening game will be played to a capacity crowd.

The season ticket list are being held open until Tuesday at 10 o'clock, and all applications should be made before that time at Room 110 at No. 75 Water street.

Inside Golf

By Chester Horton

"Back pressure" is a potent force in golf. It is a force that must be transferred before the player can acquire real proficiency. It finds an outlet in two directions. First, in the resistance of the ball against the club, and, secondly, in the resistance of the body to the sudden and turning effort required in the back swing. In the latter case, the ball objects to some extent to being moved, and the body objects to being suddenly started and turned into an abnormal position. These influences are "back pressure" in golf. And these influences, if not resisted, cause all manner of things to happen. They cause the club to be lifted directly upward, and the grip to loosen to cause only a couple of inches.

One Dollar

The Red Cross Call for Members

Called upon for an approving word which would call attention to the annual drive for one-dollar memberships, Governor Fuller wrote that "the American Red Cross has more than justified its existence."

His Excellency's brief but comprehensive endorsement probably was written before the torrential storm broke over a large part of Vermont and a considerable area of Western Massachusetts, filling rivers to overflowing, paralyzing industry, tearing bridges away, uprooting railroad tracks, taking life and driving hundreds from their homes.

"It has given to suffering humanity a wonderful service under every conceivable condition."

It has indeed, as was seen on Friday morning when the only information at hand was that Vermont was "in the grip of floods, following a night and a day of heavy rainfall."

Within an hour the perfected machinery of the Red Cross was in motion, supplies were ready, personnel prepared to move at once.

"This splendid organization," as Governor Fuller says, "deserves the support of everyone; its record is one in which the citizen may take just pride."

Only a week ago there may have been fresh in our memory the record of the Red Cross in Mississippi Valley flood relief work, where 607,000 persons received emergency assistance and 330,000 were fed and cared for in 149 refugee camps.

But that was far away. Now, having seen disaster at our very door we are all of us better able to understand what the Red Cross is and what it does.

The annual roll call will begin on Friday and continue for two weeks.

There is a dearth of canvassers. It may be that none will find you out. You need not wait. By sending your name and only One Dollar to American Red Cross, No. 35 Newbury Street, Boston, you can be one of the 75,000 members it is hoped to enroll in this district.

For only One Dollar!

A Modern Icarus

Man and Flying Machine Combined

HERE IS THE "SELF FLIER"

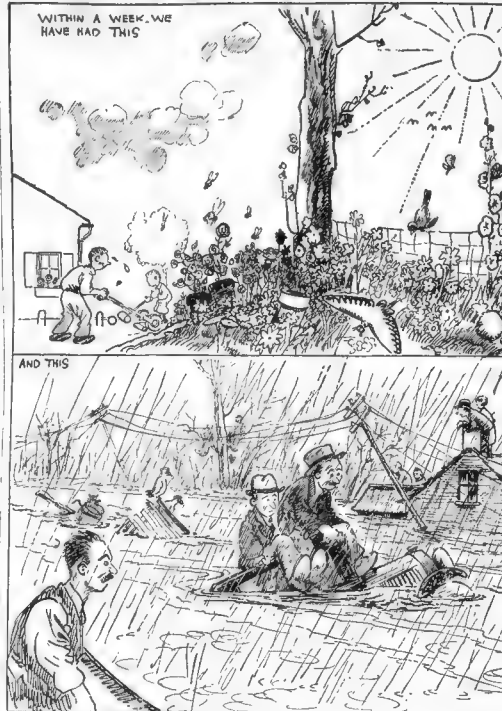

This shows you the daring Herr Albert Foltn, of Vienna, giving a modern imitation of that mythical, unfortunate personage, Icarus. Schoolboys read about Icarus, son of Daedalus. Daedalus, the father, was a prisoner in the labyrinth of the dreadful Minotaur, a fabulous monster, half human, half bull, living on the Island of Crete.

Daedalus manufactured a flying machine and escaped from the labyrinth. His son, Icarus, also tried to fly, but his wings were partly made of wax; he went too near the sun, the sun melted the wax, and poor Icarus fell and was drowned, not far from the place where Mussolini now enjoys the sensation of ruling a great nation.

That ancient story of the flight of Daedalus, about which Virgil tells in his Latin verse, is of course made out of whole cloth. It is not so with this machine made by Herr Foltn. Herr Foltn lives to fly with his machine. He was going to start, but the police would not allow him to fly over the City of Vienna. You notice over his head a sort of hood of steel, to protect the head from the propellers of his engine. Whether this will work, or how well it will work, is not yet known.

But this may forebode the day when the individual flying machine will come, not necessarily strapped to a man's body, but as simple and perhaps as cheap as the motorcycle of today, and as reliable, perhaps much safer, since the roads of the sky are wide and high.

WON'T THE NEW MAPS IF SENT TO SCHOOL

By DR. FRANK CRANE

PROFESSOR LOWELL of Harvard said the other day: "A college cannot educate its student."

Teachers put knowledge before you, but they cannot cause your brain to appropriate it.

As Dr. Johnson said, about a certain definition in the dictionary which a young man said he could not understand, "I can supply the definition, but I cannot supply the brains to understand it."

A book called "Humanizing Education" lies upon my desk, and it is a fierce attack upon all modern methods of education, some of it apparently well founded.

Doubtless there is much in the schools and colleges to be criticized.

A teacher who simply hears lessons and fits his pupils to the pronunciation bed of preconceived ideas is a poor teacher. But we must remember that the country is full of serious-minded teachers who are intelligently wrestling with the problem of education. They may know as much about it as the people who are finding fault with them.

Many teachers realize that a pupil is sent to school to be taught to think and not merely to memorize, and they are trying to train him in the business of thinking.

The upshot of it seems to be that it is the school's business to supply you with the materials for knowledge and to surround you with the proper atmosphere of learning, and to put you in contact with the men who have learned and know how to think.

But always the question is up, at the last analysis, to the pupil. He can use his material for original thought or he can be as dry-as-dust.

You can lead a horse up to water, but you can't make him drink.

So you can send your boy to a school, but you can't make him think.

A bright young lad is no better off anywhere than in school. If he does not train his mind there he is not going to train it anywhere. School remains the best place, on the whole, for a young man to pass his maturing years. It may swamp him and mislead him, but, on the contrary, it may stimulate him.

The question is, not are the schools perfect, but have you anything better to offer?

Schools are progressing in methods like everything else and are becoming better all the time.

AUTO HEADLIGHT IS GOOD HELIOGRAPH

By Garrett P. Service,

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

THE U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has found that an ordinary auto headlight, furnished with a specially constructed bulb with a convex lens, is a more efficient instrument than the powerful searchlight for long distance lighting. The electric current for the light is supplied by dry cells such as are used for door bells.

With this simple apparatus signals have been seen by the unaided eye as far as one hundred and fifty miles. In the mountains, where so much of the survey work is done, the atmosphere is frequently of crystal clearness, and then a light a hundred miles or more distant shines like fallen stars alight on a peak.

In California the survey has a light 125 miles in length from Mt. Shasta to Mt. Helena, each mountain being surrounded by a local surveying station. This particular line has been employed in connecting the survey of the Atlantic and Pacific sides of the United States.

VERMONTERS CLEANING UP AFTER THE DEL

Harry Knapp of Service Company, V. N. G., stopping "Red" Dwver and Eunice Love on Main street, Montpelier, from going into the forbidden zone of the city. Their clothing indicates no mid-summer breezes are blowing.

How the courthouse at Montpelier, VT, looked after the water had receded. The building shows evidence of the force of the flood. Wreckage is strewn about everywhere. The first story of the courthouse is greatly damaged. With the cold growing more intense and a blizzard blowing through the State, the work of clearing out and clearing the streets is retarded, but Vermont is showing she has the courage to fight her own battles.

Montpelier Tavern on State street stands surrounded by all kinds of debris. The work of clearing up the city is being rushed, but it will take a long time to haul off all the wreckage. Though an auto can be seen turned upside down and dropped into holes in the street, and driftage of every description is piled up in the utmost corners, the tangle here is no worse than in other parts of the city.

BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1927

These houses were carried a half mile down the Mashall river at Barre, VT. Comfortable homes were reduced to ruins in a few minutes when the monsoon came. In the majority of cases the occupants barely had time to flee for their lives without stopping to save their valuables.

The Princess warned the other guests that it was dangerous to remain in the room in which they were caught after the fire was discovered. The early crowd, her advice and shortly after the ceiling of the room fell in.

The guests, including the royal couple, escaped without harm. The Princess was confined to bed for several days.

They Just Don't Need Girls Now--Even at Wedding

Wilmington's beaux are up in arms against the women folk. Not only in love, but in the matter of their social life.

It was enough, the girls claim, that they should give a man-cooked, wretched supper at the Methodist Church last Friday night, but when word got around that there was going to be a "wedding" with the unbecomingly beautiful of Paul E. Todd, the girls were indignant.

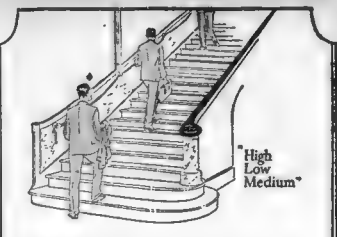

The girls, however, are not alone in their indignation. The boys, too, are indignant. They claim that the girls are not doing their duty. They claim that the girls are not doing their duty.

HUNT LOST WIFE IN FLOOD AREA

The milkman said he carried her as far as the home, three miles out, where she disappeared from the truck, leaving her, and started to return the route they had covered, heading back toward Claremont.

Mrs. Leclair, who had watched the proceeding, became suspicious when the woman walked back the way she had come, and started notifying the police. Her husband, who had been in the truck, was also notified. The police, who were in the truck, were also notified.

FIRST of importance in Arch Support Shoes

Is your arch high—or is it low—or is it medium? And in choosing a shoe with arch support—will you wear one that "average" when perhaps your foot isn't average at all?

Coward makes a particular business of fitting arches as well as feet. If your arch is high—you get the Coward "High Arch" Shoe; low you get the "Low Arch" Shoe; medium, the "Medium Arch" Support Shoe. This important feature is obtainable only in the Coward Shoe.

Patient 30 Blocks Away Hypnotized Over Phone

Chicago, Nov. 8 (A.P.)—The Chicago Herald-Examiner today reported the hypnotist over a telephone of a patient in a dental office by Zora H. Hunsicker, who was in a hospital 30 blocks away.

The patient, Miss Ruby Brown, remained unconscious for 15 minutes while the dentist drilled a sensitive tooth.
Hunsicker, who has made a studium of hypnosis, came here from Rio de Janeiro. He recently hypnotized another patient who was operated upon in a hospital here.

Miss Brown was telephoned by Hunsicker, who told her to remove a ring she was wearing on a to the dentist and "relax."
She did so and was asleep almost instantly. The hypnotist said
After the dentist finished working on the tooth, the patient was explained the dentist's examination

SEEK RECOUNT IN SOMERVILLE

The possibility that a recount of the votes cast in municipal election in Somerville may be demanded, resulted today in the shooting of a police guard over the vault in the office of City Clerk James M. Carson of Somerville.

Patrolman Joseph A. Dwyer was assigned to duty at the vault, in which the votes cast in the election yesterday, when Mayor Leon M. Connolly, Republican, was re-elected by a plurality over John J. Murphy, Democrat, who made his fourth unsuccessful campaign.

A petition for a recount must be filed with the city clerk not later than 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, and must be signed by ten registered voters in each of the seven wards.

ANTI-SALOON COURT BILL BEATEN IN OHIO

Columbus, O., Nov. 8 (A.P.)—Ohio's pro-tem justice of the peace bill, sponsored by J. Anti-Saloon League, has been defeated by more than 100,000 votes. It was introduced here today with 75 per cent of the state precinct included in the count.

The justice of the peace bill would in effect give the justice of the peace courts following the recent election of the United States Supreme Court, which declared justice should not have been in which they had a financial interest. Under the former custom, justice of the peace collected fees out of fines assessed in their courts and obtained mainly from violation of prohibition and traffic laws.

DETROIT'S MAYOR-ELECT WILL BAN 'DRY SNOOPERS'

Detroit, Nov. 8—John C. Lodge, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's uncle, who had the uninvited support of dry organizations in his successful "silent campaign" for mayor of Detroit in yesterday's election, today declared Detroit would have "orderly enforcement without making either the aid or the advice of 'professional' drys."

"There will be positively no 'snooping,'" Lodge declared in a statement thanking the voters for their support.

John W. Smith, his opponent, was an avowed wet, and announced he would not enforce the law if elected.

GWEN JONES, DEFEATED FOR MAYOR, SEEKS JOB

Concord, N. H., Nov. 8 (A.P.)—Miss Helen Greenwood Jones, defeated in the election for Mayor today announced that she was a candidate for a job. Just what this job may be is indefinite, she says, not one intends to devote the next few days to "snooping around."

Miss Jones, who is 24 years old, was defeated by a vote in one vote by the present chief executive, Fred S. Marston.

DENTIST GAS VICTIM DIES IN 6 DAYS

Pulling to remain unconscious for six days after taking gas to have a tooth removed, Miss Marquette Rose Ribbary, twenty-eight childless daughter of a Brooklyn clergyman, died at Deaconess Hospital.

The puzzling case attracted wide attention in medical circles and every resource was tried to save her life but all failed.

Once when the patient stopped breathing, respiration was restored artificially, and after that she inhaled for several days and took nourishment which, it appeared for a time, would give her sufficient strength to win the battle.

But in spite of everything that was done she could not be lifted from the cloudy veil into which she had sunk under the anesthetic.

Miss Ribbary was the daughter of Rev. Dr. Abraham M. Ribbary, pastor of the Church of the United Brethren, 100 Broadway, New York, and was a student and writer of reports. She recently returned from studying in Europe.

She came to Boston and entered the hospital last Wednesday, desiring to have the operation near the home of her mother, who lives at No. 120 Longwood avenue.

Her father, who is survived by her mother and a brother, 55 years of age, was a dentist.

How the Vote Went in Eight Cities in New England

Principal cities of New England re-elected mayors as follows yesterday:

Somerville—Leon M. Connolly (R.), 12,711; John J. Murphy (D.), 12,711.

Worcester—Michael J. Caffrey (R.), 12,711; John J. Mahoney (D.), 12,711.

Springfield—Frederic C. Parker (R.), 12,711; Dwight R. Winter (D.), 12,711.

Cambridge—Edward A. W. Quinn (N. P.), 12,711; Ralph W. Robert (N. P.), 12,711.

Waltham—Henry F. Reed (N. P.), 12,711; Joseph L. Holland (N. P.), 12,711.

Lynn—Hobbs S. Jauer (N. P.), 12,711; John V. Phelan (N. P.), 12,711.

Manchester, N. H.—Arthur Moreau (N. P.), 12,711; William G. McCarthy (D.), 12,711.

Concord, N. H.—Fred Marston (N. P.), 12,711; Gwendolyn Jones (N. P.), 12,711.

Re-elected.

17 SALISBURY MEN FACE COURT IN RUM CASES

Salisbury, Nov. 8 (A.P.)—Ten of the seventeen Salisbury residents indicted in the Essex County Grand Jury yesterday on charges resulting from alleged liquor law violations (plus 1) not guilty how today and were held for trial next Monday.

Harold F. Condon, former Salisbury chief of police and assistant was one of those indicted. Condon served a term in the Plymouth Jail about 16 years ago after conviction on similar charges.

ELOPEMENT OF HARVARD STUDENT AND GIRL HALTED

Chicago, Nov. 8 (A.P.)—The elopement of a Harvard freshman and the daughter of a wealthy St. Louis insurance man was halted here today when police from the Toronto, Canada, Police Station, 14, of Webster Street, and Robert McK. Jones of Chicago, Mass. are the pair whose marriage plans were interrupted.

Their hasty flight had a dramatic beginning, the girl revealed.

"I parked my suitcase and three them out of the window of my home," she said. "Then I jumped from the second-story into a tree and slid down the tree to the ground."

The Modern Fireplace is "Radiantfire-d" with GAS

Nothing will give more cheer, coziness and grateful warmth to your living-room than a Radiantfire.

In many Boston homes the Radiantfire is lighted for hospitality's sake. But the greatest comfort you get from Radiantfire is on the chill mornings and evenings of Fall and Spring—before your furnace is working full time.

We've many styles from which to choose—plain, ornate, little or big. "Tomorrow" you'll be glad you came to see them today.

Don't dose a Child's Cough

CONTINUAL dosing upsets children's delicate stomachs. Vicks is applied externally and therefore cannot disturb the digestion. It acts in two ways:

(1) The body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors which are inhaled.

(2) At the same time Vicks "draws out" the soreness like a poultice.

Made from a NEW RECIPE!

A DELICIOUS loaf—made from a new recipe!
 From tested flour—so that each loaf emerges from the oven a perfect, golden brown, so that each slice is firm and fine in texture.

Homepryd bread is the kind of bread you would be proud to make! And you get it as fresh from our ovens as though you had baked it yourself.

Every day the Homepryd man brings this delicious new loaf to your very door. For Homepryd service is a daily service that brings your bread to you as it should be brought—straight from the oven!

Wait for the Homepryd man! Look for his yellow wagon and listen for his whistle. He has other good baked things for you to choose from.
